

ATTEMPT TO DELAY SCHOOL OPENING IS BEATEN AT START

Charles Rice Enlists Aid of Food Administrator Child To Secure Two Weeks' Postponement

KINNEY VIGOROUSLY OPPOSES THE PLAN

Refuses To Make Any Recommendation To Governor — Says Schools Will Open On Time

The second offensive launched on behalf of plantation interests, yesterday, with a view of breaking through the defenses of the department of public instruction and delaying the opening of the schools so that school children might continue to work in the cane fields, met with a sudden and complete defeat before it got started.

Superintendent of Public Instruction H. W. Kinney countered strongly and hurled back the attackers with the vigorous statement that under no circumstances would he lend himself to any such plan.

It was Charles A. Rice, of Kauai, former territorial senator and candidate again for the upper house, who brought up the matter yesterday and enlisted the aid of Food Administrator J. F. Child, who consented to take steps toward having the Governor ask that the opening of the schools be postponed.

His proposition was that the Governor should ask that the opening of a school holiday during the last two weeks of this month, thus enabling the school children to continue to work in the cane fields and "help save the sugar crop."

The same proposition was made recently by S. O. Hall of the Hawaiian Sugar Planters' Association and met with prompt assertion on the part of Superintendent Kinney that the schools would open on time.

Mr. Child said yesterday, following a conference with Mr. Rice, that "this proposition of delaying the opening of the schools for two weeks was sort of thrust upon me, but it seems to me to be a practical suggestion."

"I expect to take the matter up with the Governor," added Mr. Child, "and I think that any legal objection can be overcome by the recommendation of Superintendent Kinney, of the department of public instruction, to Governor McCarthy that the official opening of the public schools be delayed until October 1 next, and the opening of a proclamation by the Governor declaring a school holiday until that time."

According to Superintendent Henry W. Kinney, however, there is little chance of any such holiday being declared, especially with his recommendation. When asked if he would consider such a proposition, Mr. Kinney was exceedingly emphatic in his opposition.

"I simply will refuse to make any such recommendation to the Governor," asserted Mr. Kinney. "The schools will open promptly on time, as advised by the President, who says that nothing should be allowed to interfere with the schools. The commissioners have already acted upon the suggestion in the negative. As for the argument that the teachers will not be here in time it is probable now that practically all of those expected will get here, due to the special arrangements that have been made. After all the trouble and effort made to get the teachers here in time for the opening of the schools it would never do to postpone the opening."

The idea of postponing the opening of the schools for two weeks to enable the children on the various islands to take part in the effort to harvest the sugar cane, as put forth by Senator Rice is as follows:

Statement of Charles Rice
"If these youngsters are allowed to continue their work for two weeks longer until the end of this month of September, they will be able to help in the harvesting of the cane. It will mean much to the farming crop. The weather conditions are ideal now and if we can take advantage of these weather conditions it will mean an increase of the yield of about a half ton of sugar to the acre. Furthermore, it will mean the releasing of a large number of adults for the harvesting of the present fast ripening crop."

"The work that these boys and girls are doing is not irksome nor arduous. Their work is strictly confined to planting. They go to work at six in the morning and are through at about two in the afternoon. The youngsters are taking great interest in their work and are enthusiastic over the fact that they are taking an active part in helping win the war."

"The boys of fourteen and over are very proud of their working reserve buttons and the youngsters under that age are a bit peeved because no provision has been made for them to wear some sort of patriotic insignia. Food Administrator Child, however, is going to try to arrange for these kiddies to have a food administration button which will cover this purpose just as well."

"Boys and girls of all classes and nationalities are engaged in this war work. Plantation manager's sons are working alongside of field laborers and storekeeper's sons. Sheriff Rice has three sons at work who range from twelve to seventeen years of age. Dr. H. H. Waterhouse has a sixteen-year-old son who has recently worked himself up to a job of luna over one of these working reserve gangs."

"The lads work on piece work and there is great rivalry among the various gangs. They make on an average of from twenty-five cents to a dollar a day. The eighty boys who went down to Makaweli from Honolulu did excellent work and Manager Baldwin was sorry to see them go. These boys planted 140 acres of cane and took care of it in a manner as good as much older persons."

"Despite Superintendent Kinney's opinion to the contrary, I see no reason why school could not be started two weeks later this year. If a week was

SALOON PREMISES PUT TO GOOD USE

Prohibition Results in Better Business—Old Bar Rooms Remodeled and Most Are Stores

Within the few weeks since prohibition became effective in Honolulu, the remodeling of the former saloons where men spent money as though they had no cares or debts, or families dependent upon them, has been under way, and five out of six are now busy merchandising stores.

It was said by those who favored the retention of the liquor selling business in Honolulu that when the saloons were closed out the old locations would long be vacant.

A very few still have "To Let" signs hanging on the doors. But for the most part, where once were hanging, swinging doors, with noisy, drunken crowds of men inside lined up against the shelves, are now places where the neighbors and within, legitimate trade is carried on.

Where men once spent quarters and dollars, and many of them in a day, for mugs of beer, the insidious cocktail and straight whiskey, they now purchase shoes for the little fellows at home; groceries for the coming week's necessities; or a new dress for "mother"; and even then, go home with money in their pockets, and certainly without a "load" on.

Where the Criterion saloon attracted large crowds day and night at the corner of Hotel and Bethel Street, where the glassware and mirrors and polished counter shone and where the lollars jingled in an almost ceaseless journey from the pockets of the wage-earners into the busy cash register in exchange for "boozie," a general store, "The Emporium," will open soon. If the saloon was elaborate the new store will be elaborate in its way. Giving the lie to the anti-prohibition talk that these stores would remain vacant for a long time, this new store also required the space occupied by the barber shop which has gone to a new location. It will replace a pool-room on Hotel Street, and so the regeneration of Hotel Street goes on.

Festering Sore Removed
Where the Fashion saloon was formerly located near the Empire theater, a location which respectable women of the city hesitated about passing on their way to stores in legitimate business, and where men reeled through the swinging doors and the police were active; where drunken men ogled women in a row, a store which would vie with any other respectable neighborhood. The one festering sore of the locality has been removed.

Down in the middle of the block, back of the Fort Street stores, and reached through Cunha's Alley, the old Union Saloon, a building standing in the heart of one of the most valuable business squares in the city, is now occupied by Paul Schied's, manufacturer's agents. Dry goods are now on display, also women's wear, in a place where women never set foot for forty years.

The old saloon on the corner of Hotel and Nuuanu Street is now a pool room, although half of the saloon had been taken over by an adjoining restaurant. This in itself is an indication that when the booze selling trade passed out the restaurant's business increased and the owner needed more room.

At the corner of King and Nuuanu, a former saloon premises is being remodeled for legitimate business. Across the block, a former saloon site is now a pawnbroker's shop and jewelry store. Further down Nuuanu the old Anchor saloon premises are soon to be remodeled for a merchandise store. Lovejoy's wholesale liquor establishment has been repaired and cleaned and is ready for legitimate trade.

A "To Let" sign will hang on the door of the Royal Annex, opposite the police station.

Other Changes
The Prosit saloon on Beretania Street, near Ala Lane, is a Japanese poolroom, while the saloon site at the corner of Beretania and River is now a Japanese drug store. The Kamohame saloon on Maunakea Street has been replaced by an Oriental store. The old M.T. saloon, corner of King and Maunakea Streets, has replaced some time ago by a popular cafe, bakery and candy store. The Service saloon on Hotel, near Maunakea Street, is still run as a soft drink emporium, as is Paddy Ryan's old saloon on Alakea Street. The Mint saloon opposite the Liberty Hotel is a soft drink rendezvous with poolroom attached.

Peacock's wholesale liquor house now carries soft drinks. The Young Hotel bar in the basement is closed and unused, but the billiard room adjoining is now occupied by the Hawaii Promotion Committee.

And so it goes on all over the city, with streets being completely regenerated, few drinks to be seen and the saloons in Maunakea Street and the streets will not be suddenly confronted by drunken men thrown bodily out of a saloon by the proprietor's bouncer.

Professor Edgar Wood, principal of the normal school, has issued a call for all of the school teachers, who recently arrived from the mainland, to meet him at the Normal School this morning at ten o'clock, in order to formulate plans for the coming school term.

As many of the newly arrived teachers are scattered about the city and it has been impossible to get in personal touch with each of them, Professor Wood is taking this means to notify them of this important meeting.

taken off the Christmas vacation and the children were taught on Saturdays, the time lost could easily be made up, he concluded. "There are only ten school days to be made up by this plan and I think that this could easily be accomplished by this method."

Garden Island is Waking Up For Primary Campaign

Republicans Have Biggest Field of Candidates But Democrats Are Seeking For Seats In Lower House

Charles A. Rice, a prominent Republican of Kauai, filed his nomination papers yesterday and has officially announced his intention to run for the senate in the coming primary election.

Mr. Rice left for Kauai last night and will shortly start his campaign on the Garden Island, where, the political pot is just beginning to simmer.

Opposing Mr. Rice for the nomination on the Republican ticket is Joseph Rodriguez, who is making his first try for senatorial honors. Rodriguez ran for supervisor on the Garden Island and was defeated. The Democrats on Kauai have but one candidate for senatorial honors, John A. Kaula, who is Lele McCallister's henchman on Kauai and who is also reputed to have a strong following on Niihau.

Kaula was much in the limelight during the early part of 1914, when he figured prominently in the graft investigations of the Hilo board of supervisors, of which he was a leading member. Kaula was found guilty of embezzlement of county funds on January 25, 1914, and sentenced to not more than two years penal servitude on February 4, 1914. He was later paroled by Governor Pinkham.

There are four seats in the lower house to fill at the coming elections on Kauai, with a large field of candidates. The Republican entries will consist of C. H. Wilcox, a member of the last legislature, J. C. Jevess, James Werner, Sam Kaahu, Von Ekelaka, C. W. Spitz, Richard Oliver and Waipa Akana.

Lined up against this promising field of candidates, the Democrats are grooming and preparing five candidates for the lower house stakes. They are M. Henriques, John Rego, John Haleman, J. S. Chandler and H. Hale.

It was announced yesterday that Kaula would not visit Kauai on his primary campaign but will devote most of his time during the month of September to Maui and Maui, Dr. James H. Raymond, who is seeking the nomination on the Democratic ticket for delegate to congress, will leave for Kauai on Thursday in company with Senator Makela from Hawaii. The Maui medico has a wide circle of friends on the Garden Island, where he was a practicing physician at one time.

BIGAMY IS CHARGE AGAINST OFFICER

Capt. H. B. Steele, Son-in-Law of Doctor Schumann, Faces Court Martial—Is Under Arrest

Bigamy is a charge laid against Capt. Henry B. Steele, 25th Infantry, United States army, by the army authorities of the Hawaiian Department, General A. P. Blockson, department commander.

"Our information is that Captain Steele has another wife on the mainland," said General Blockson. "The officer is, and has been, under arrest and preparations are being made to court martial him."

Captain Steele is one of the three army sons-in-law of Dr. F. Schumann, the German-born resident against whom the federal authorities have brought action to denaturalize him on the ground that he has been guilty of profligate utterances this year.

Captain Steele was married to Agnes Schumann who is the third daughter of Doctor Schumann to marry an army officer, on June 22, 1918, by Rev. A. W. Palmer, of central Union Church. Those attending the wedding were Lieutenant and Mrs. E. A. Bischof, the latter being a sister of the bride. Lieutenant and Mrs. Bischof were married last year shortly after Lieutenant Bischof had been commissioned from the ranks.

A short time ago Captain Steele applied to the Governor for permission to change his name to Asche, saying that this was his father's name, and that Steele was not his right name. This change was permitted and was officially published. However, it is said that in the marriage license the certificate carries the name of "Steele."

Captain Steele, like his brother-in-law, Lieutenant Bischof, is a native of the United States and was in the army ranks after the opening of the war. He was an enlisted man of the Second Infantry. On being commissioned he was transferred to the 32nd, and when that regiment was ordered to the mainland was again transferred to the 25th.

The reason for this, it is understood, was because the military authorities already had been informed of an alleged former marriage. His arrest was occasioned by the information which reached department headquarters that there has been no legal separation from his wife on the mainland, and that by marrying Agnes Schumann he committed bigamy.

While it was not stated at headquarters it is also believed that the changing of his name from Steele to Asche was done to prevent knowledge of his former marriage becoming known.

He is now under arrest at Fort Shafter.

TEN good races, nearly all with close and exciting finishes, were run off in good time yesterday afternoon on the Kapiolani Park track in the second of the three-day meet.

The opening number, the first heat of the initial trotting race, was started at quarter of two and the meet was over by five o'clock.

The crowd yesterday was just about as big as that which witnessed the Saturday card, but even at that the attendance fell far short of expectations. Yesterday the grandstand was about three-quarters full, while the bleachers on either side of the grandstand were just about filled. Considering the merit and excellence of the races and the fact that this was a holiday, Honolulu certainly fell far short of turning out as it should have done.

Saturday To Close Meet
However, there is still a chance for followers of the sport to settle the question whether the city cares for further good racing or not, for next Saturday will be the third and last day of the present meet. Inasmuch as the entire receipts of the day will be donated to the Red Cross it is expected that a bumper crowd will turn out, for the occasion and purpose of the meet certainly call for a good showing.

At times yesterday it seemed that the races were going a bit slow, but this was hardly the case. Some of the youngsters had to be a bit refractory and were hard to get started properly. The feature of the day was the great Umpqua's behavior. He was a perfect gentleman and never acted better than he did in the mile, which was the final event of the day.

Steeplechase Event Excited
The steeplechase was a pretty number and pleased the crowd a good deal. The seven entries went over the first barrier, in front of the grandstand, as one. Of course, it was a foregone conclusion that Sergeant Belmont, the rowdy, would win, for he is a veteran in this style of racing, yet the event was interesting and exciting enough to be real good.

The Hawaiian band was on hand and filled in the waits with music. The afternoon was a perfect one, just warm enough to be comfortable, and the dust nuisance in front of the grandstand was abated to the point that no complaint could come from this source.

Following is a brief description of each race, the trotting heats, being lumped into one story, although they were run in between other events:

Tom Hollinger's Welcome Boy, driven by Jack Gibson with his green jacket and white polka dots, was again victorious in the main trotting and pacing event. Yesterday's race required the winner to take three out of five heats. Welcome Boy took the three following the initial heat, which, as usual, was won by Denervo.

Denervo Wins First Heat
Denervo won the first heat in 2:16, two lengths to the good, over Welcome Boy. Owner L. C. Kaula drove Denervo in this and the succeeding heats. The race was between Denervo and Welcome Boy all the way around the mile distance, for Dan Carey's Bretta Dee, Carey driving, broke shortly after the start and was brought down to the proper gait only at the half. She was distanced and scratched from the remaining heats.

The mare has the real stuff, but has been very erratic. After she gets acclimated Bretta Dee would be the class in local harness circles.

In the second heat Denervo got a lead start of half a neck over Welcome Boy. At the quarter he was half a length ahead and at the half was easily a length and a half in the lead, but at the five-eighths Denervo seemed to shake his pace, while Welcome Boy began to creep forward gradually. He got a neck back, but on the stretch Denervo fought gamely and closed the distance between so rapidly that Welcome Boy won in a great and exciting finish by just barely half a neck, coming under the wire in 2:17. This put the race on a level as the racing goes and it applies better in this instance than it does in certain games of chance.

Welcome Boy Victor Again
The third heat went to Welcome Boy, time 2:21, he winning over Denervo by a length. The two were hard to start off in this heat and only got away after the fourth start with Welcome Boy easily a neck to the good for a lead. It was the Hollinger horse's heat from start to finish, Denervo breaking slightly once in passing the half.

The fourth and final heat went to Welcome Boy, time 2:27 3-5, giving him the race. The winner was fully four lengths to the good coming under the wire. Welcome Boy again secured slightly the advantage at the start of the heat, being half a neck ahead. From start to finish it was again Welcome Boy's race, for Denervo broke once or twice.

Dan T. Carey's Waimea, with Johnny Carroll up, won the four furlongs for Hawaiian bred, time 1:50 flat. Louis Warren's Oneonta, Charlie Tyler up, was second, a length behind Waimea, while Chikamori's Young Boy, Lino Valentine up, came third, a length in the rear of Oneonta, and Andrew Cox's Creeper, Frank Gouveia up, was last, creeping along a length behind Young Boy.

Youngsters Give Trouble
The youngsters had a lot of trouble in getting off and there were half a dozen false starts before the flags went down for a go. Creeper got a rotten start, being several lengths to the bad, and was never able to catch up or cut down the lead the others got on her.
